Most Rev. William A. Wack, CSC
Born and raised in South Bend, Indiana, Bishop-elect Wack (pronounced "wok" from the German Wach) is the second youngest of ten children (two girls, eight boys). He attended Christ the King Grade School, LaSalle (public) High School, Holy Cross College (one year) and was graduated from the University of Notre Dame with a degree in government and international relations in 1989.

He entered formation in the college seminary with the Congregation of Holy Cross at Notre Dame, Indiana. After graduation, he went to the Holy Cross Novitiate in Cascade, Colorado for one year (1989-90), professed first vows in Holy Cross at the conclusion of the novitiate, and then returned to Notre Dame to pursue a masters of divinity degree, which he received in May 1993.

Following Ordination to the Priesthood on April 9, 1994, he served as associate pastor at Sacred Heart Church in Colorado Springs, CO for three-plus years. From July 1997 to July 2002, he returned to Notre Dame as associate director of vocations for Holy Cross. In addition, he served as Director of the Freshman Retreat Program at Notre Dame and worked in Campus Ministry. In June 2009, he moved to Austin, TX to become pastor of St. Ignatius Martyr Parish.

On May 29, 2017, His Holiness, Pope Francis, named him the sixth Bishop of Pensacola-Tallahassee. Bishop-elect Wack will be ordained a bishop and installed at a Mass in Pensacola on Tuesday, August 22, 2017.

Unity of Spirit

The whole group of believers were gathered with Mary, Jesus' mother, in the upper room. They were waiting for power to be given to them from on high, as Jesus had promised. They were like children with their mother, keeping the family together. Being the one on earth closest to Jesus, Mary was the disciples' physical and spiritual connection to him, and they listened to her.

The Descent of the Holy Spirit by Muziano shows us this scene and highlights how colorful a group the first Christians were. Each one is different, each unique, each has his or her own background. Yet when the Spirit calls them together with Mary, there is a beautiful harmony and complementarity. Opposite of the spirit of the evil one, which causes division and exaggerates individuality, the Spirit of God celebrates legitimate diversity while creating from these different parts one body and one spirit in Christ.

If you have ever been in Rome for an audience with the pope on Wednesday morning or at a large Papal Mass like World Youth Day, you have experienced how the Spirit brings unity amid diversity. These gatherings comprise thousands of people of many different nationalities and languages, but all are united in prayer and a common spirit. This is the miracle brought about by the Spirit.

It's not easy to maintain this unity. It requires we each listen to and strive for the unity Jesus asks of us. Selfish individualism is a constant tendency, but it's much easier to resist it when we are united by Mary and the Church to Christ's Spirit.

Dear Padre,

Why don't Catholics recognize confirmations from other Christian churches if we accept their baptisms?

Baptism signs us with an indelible mark, it defines our character. It can never be repeated. A baptism is always held to be valid if a person is baptized with water using the Trinitarian formula (CCC 1256). If a priest is unsure of the validity of a person's baptism, he would baptize the person conditionally, recognizing the earlier baptism if it happened and was valid. The minister of baptism is usually an ordained minister, but in necessity anyone can baptize, including a non-Christian if he intends what the Church intends.

Confirmation also leaves an indelible mark, as does holy orders, and they also cannot be repeated. What makes confirmation different from baptism is that the minister of confirmation is ordinarily the bishop because this expresses the Apostolic Unity of the Church (CCC 1312).

If someone was confirmed in a Church that has apostolic succession, her confirmation would be considered valid. But if she was not confirmed in a church with apostolic succession, the Catholic Church wouldn't recognize the confirmation as valid, and she would have to be reconfirmed.

All Christian churches have a common understanding of what the sacrament of baptism is, but while other churches might have Communion, confirmation, and even ordination, their celebration of the sacraments may not include all the requirements necessary for the Catholic Church to consider them valid.

A Word From Pope Francis

"Dear friends, let us open wide the door of our lives to the new things of God which the Holy Spirit gives us. May he transform us, confirm us in our trials, strengthen our union with the Lord, our steadfastness in him: this is a true joy!"
